

What is claimed is:

1. A vehicle compartment radio LAN system for communicating with a terminal installed in vehicle compartment
5 through a repeater by radio wherein each repeater is mounted in front of each seat row.

2. A vehicle compartment radio LAN system for communicating with a terminal installed in vehicle compartment
10 through a repeater by radio wherein plural repeaters are mounted for each seat row at a position allowing radio communication with a terminal installed in each seat row and radio communication is carried out by selecting a repeater
15 securing an optimum communication state from the plural repeaters.